Claim Box Containing Bomb Was Placed Under Gov't
Theatre Box

IN MOSCOW THEATRE

Plot Uncovered Through Arrest of Manager of Capital's "Little Theatre"

BERLIN, Apr. 20—A German news agency dispatch from Moscow, stated today a plot to assassinate Dictator Josef Stalin, of the Soviet Union, has been discovered in the Russian capital.

The plot was uncovered, said the report, through arrest of a man named Ljakhov, manager of Moscow's "Little theatre."

A bomb, the German agency claimed, was placed by unknown persons under a government box in the theatre, which is frequently visited by Communist party and U. S. S. R. government officials, including Stalin.

"International Police" Observe

London, Apr. 20—Resembling the nearest thing to an international police force seen in Europe since foreign troops maintained order in the Saar during the plebiscite, a group of approximately 200 "observers" of various nationalities, today, were scattered along the French-Spanish, Portuguese-Spanish and Gibraltar-Spanish fronts.

Three weeks behind establishment of sea inspection, the land force took station at midnight last night.

The purpose behind the present international "police" is to prevent the conflict from spreading over the border of Spain throughout the rest of Europe.

Advices Court Plan Defeat

Washington, Apr. 20—Defeat of President Roosevelt's court plan was urged today by William Alfred Eddy, president of Hobart College, Geneva, New York, as a means of halting a "dangerous growth of lawlessness" that now threatens constitutional government in America.

Eddy told the Senate Judiciary Committee, college educators were worrying about the future of education. He warned the President's plan would destroy independence of the judiciary and if this happened, colleges will be forced to develop "orators and propa-gandists, instead of patriots."

$30,000 Fire Threatens Community

New Egypt, N. J., Apr. 20—Causing a loss estimated at $30,000, fire which for a time threatened this entire community of 1,000 persons, today destroyed the A. H. Perkins Grain Mill.

Burning embers from the blaze set fire to the roofs of several nearby dwellings, but firemen kept the small fires from gaining headway. More than 100 firemen from Pemberton, Wrightstown, Bordentown and Cookstown, aided the New Egypt fire department in extinguishing the mill fire.

Suspect Incendiarism In Burlington Blaze

BURLINGTON, Apr. 20—A fire that may have been of incendiary origin swept through the factory of the Shar-lotte Dress Company here yesterday, endangering the life of the night watchman, who escaped the flames by crawling through a basement window.
Only the walls of the two-and-a-half story frame building on Brown street, remained standing. The loss, estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000, includes over 2,000 completed dresses and materials and machinery. The plant employed more than 135 women.
William Plack, of West Broad street, the night watchman, told authorities that he had gone to the basement to burn trash in the heater. At 4.30 a. m., when he attempted to return upstairs, he said, he discovered that his path was blocked by the flames. After climbing to safety through the window, Plack sounded the alarm. The fire was brought under control in about an hour.

Fire Chief William Schroeder and Police Captain George Bowley are conducting an investigation, assisted by Hyman Loberfeld, the manager, and Plack. The building is owned by L.
Leach, of West Union street.

BEGINNING OF FINAL WEEK IN CONTEST FINDS MARIE ANN PIERRO STILL FIRST

At the beginning of this, the last week of the Favorite Baby Election, which comes to a close at 10 o'clock sharp next Saturday night, April 24th, the official tabulation of the Honor Roll finds little Marie Ann Pierro in first place again, in a race that has turned out to be fast and furious, and it is expected that this final week will find all of the wee candidates making freely discussed in every part of this section, as to which baby will be proclaimed either the King or Queen of this whole community and be presented with the silver loving cup and the check of $500.

Will that lucky baby be any of the babies in that select honor list who will this week put forth the right amount of work that will result in sufficient votes to do the job.

Or here is another angle. Will it be a real "dark horse" that has been out of the running so far, but like many horse races in the past, enter the home stretch this week, get the proper opening and with a burst of speed that can't be denied, streak past the leaders one by one to be the first to show its head under the finish wire. Anything can happen in a real race.

Have you found your heart skipping a beat now and then, your hands twitching nervously, and your mind refusing to do anything but center on one thing in these last few days?

The reason, of course, is the proximity of the end of Bristol and Community's favorite baby election, a campaign marked by more interest and activity than any other event in this section's modern history, and built up on the hopes of scores of the leading aspirants for first honors to be awarded after Saturday night.

Today's published standing of the little campaigners contains a number of surprises. Positions will doubtless change before Saturday night.

It's your job now to see that the changes are up the ladder toward the coveted goal and not down toward oblivion. The community's leading merchants and the hundreds of people who are in the respective camps of the campaigners are united in bringing the election to a close which will live long in the memory of everyone.

Perhaps the busiest man in the community today is the Favorite Baby

FORCED TO SHOOT GAME BURNED IN FIELD FIRE

Blaze, Believed To Be Incendiary, Burned Over Large Area Near Newportville

RABBITS & BIRDS LOST

NEWPORTVILLE, Apr. 20—So seriously burned were a large number of rabbits and pheasants in a fire yesterday which burned over a large area in this vicinity, that deputy game warden Daniel Potter found it necessary to shoot them.

The fire started at 1.30 p. m., in a field on the Birken tract, and soon became a threatening menace. It spread through the farm formerly occupied by Clifford Ingraham, across to the Dunn farm, and the woods on the farm of Joseph R. Grundy. As it swept along it burned over a field on the John Williams property.

Newportville Terrace, Hulmeville and Croydon fire companies responded to the alarms, and continued the fight until five o'clock.

The fire-fighting apparatus became stuck in the mud in some of the fields, and this hampered the work of the firemen.

Several residents of the section are of the belief the blaze was of incendiary origin, it having apparently started in a section where pedestrians rarely pass.

The game loss, particularly pheasants and rabbits, is described as terrific, the fire having burned over such a large area.

JIMMY FLANNIGAN

Just a real honest-to-goodness little man, Jimmy Flannigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Flannigan, 231 Lafayette street, Bristol, James has light brown hair and blue eyes, and while there are many things he is fond of, his dog "Ring" holds a place well up in his scheme of things. Jimmy is fond of other children, and is a great favorite in his neighborhood. He has been on the Honor Roll the last few weeks, and his parents, along with scores of friends are doing some real campaigning for the manly little candidate these last few days of the baby election.
Jimmy is three years old, and possesses a personality that makes friends easily, and as he is such a natural "feller" of course he holds them. He expects to capture one of the prizes this week.

WALTHER LEAGUE HAS ZONE RALLY, CROYDON

Over 200 Gather For Fine Programs on Sunday, In Croydon Fire Station

REV. SPENCER SPEAKS

CROYDON, Apr. 20—Over 200 Wal-ther Leaguers, representing six societies in Philadelphia, one in Camden, N. J., one in Trenton, N. J., and the local society, were in attendance for the annual Spring rally of the Philadelphia zone of the Eastern district of the Walther League, which is affiliated with the International Walther League of the Lutheran Church. The rally was held in the Croydon fire house, Sunday, since St. Luke's Church building when filled for the regular Sunday morning church services, can accommodate only 100 people comfortably.

The meeting was opened at 3.30 p. m. with a Walther League hymn and a prayer by the local pastor, the Rev.
Theodore Kohlmeier. After a few words of welcome from the pastor, the chair was turned over to Mr. Dieter, Philadelphia, the zone leader.

The chairman then called upon various representatives from the societies represented to say a few words. Thereupon the president of the Eastern District, George Nolde, Richmond, Va., was introduced. He outlined various Walther League projects which have been planned including the district convention which is to be held at Washington, D. C., in May. The district chairman of the Department of Christian Knowledge, the Rev. E. H.
Behrens, Philadelphia, was then called upon for his address. He urged the regular use of the Walther League topics for Bible study and mission study in the regular society meetings.
Reports were then heard from other district officers. The meeting was adjourned at 5.30 p. m., and supper was served by the local society.

The Walther League service was held in the fire house at eight p. m.
About 250 people packed the building.
The altar service was conducted by the local pastor. The organist was A. Kornfeld. An anthem, "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart" (R. G. Jones), was sung by the Choral Union of Philadelphia. The accompanist was Miss L. Shairer.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. W. D. Spencer, Baltimore, Md., the field secretary of the Eastern District.

opened a terrific bombardment of Madrid today, hurling huge bombs into threatening the city.

VOTING LIGHT EARLY TODAY AT FALLSINGTON

FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES

FALLSINGTON, Apr. 20—Residents of Falls Township are voting today on the question: "Shall the bonded indebtedness of the school district of the Township of Falls, Bucks County, Pa., be increased in the sum of $40,000 for the purpose of providing funds for and toward the building and equipping of a combination auditorium-gymnasium and four class rooms?"

Of the 800 registered voters in the upper district only 35 had cast their ballots up to 10 o'clock this morning. In the lower district there are said to be approximately 200 registered voters.

Members of the election boards foresaw a very light vote on the question.
Approximately four years ago a similar election was held, the question at that time involving only the erection of an auditorium-gymnasium.
With the increase in the population and resultant increase in number of students, the question of adding four class rooms was included for today's ballotting. The vote against the building of the auditorium-gymnasium a few years ago was very heavy.

The election today was brought about by a motion passed in a meeting of the board of school directors of Falls Township, that such election be held. The need for the class rooms and auditorium was seen by the directors, with all but one voting favorably upon the motion.

Residents of the upper district are casting their ballots in the fire station in the village of Fallsington, and those of the lower district are voting in the election headquarters on the Bordentown Road at Penns Manor.

GRANT 2 PAROLES, CONTINUE ONE CASE; REFUSE ONE DIVORCE

Norman Brown Granted Parole Upon Completion of His Minimum Sentence

Two Clubs Near Here Are Granted Charters By
The Court

DOYLESTOWN, April 20 — Two paroles were granted and another was continued until the next term of court yesterday by Judges Hiram H. Keller and Calvin S. Boyer. A divorce was refused by Judge Keller and charters were granted to two new organizations.

Norman Brown, of Malvern, charged with larceny, was granted a parole upon completion of his minimum sentence. Brown was sentenced for stealing saddles and harness from his employer.

Judge Keller handed down an opinion in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County, refusing a divorce in the case of Louis F. Pfaff against Ida M. Pfaff, formerly of Allentown.

The parole application of William Kelly, of Bristol, was continued today.
Kelly was sentenced to six months to one year in the Bucks County Prison and has served about eight months of his sentence.

Martin Luther Sharp, of Quaker-town, was re-paroled after serving a short time for breaking parole on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.
Sharp was paroled a short time ago and was back in jail several hours later after being found in an alleged drunken condition.

"I am going to head for New York this time," Sharp informed the Court.
District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn informed him that New Hope was the nearest Bucks county boundary line and advised him to head that direction and cross the river.

The Court granted a charter to the "Can Take It Club," Logan avenue and State road, Bristol township, for social enjoyment and athletic privileges.
Testimony had previously been taken in the application and the charter was granted.

A charter was also granted to the Ukrainian American Citizens Club, of Bristol.

A verdict was taken in the Court of Common Pleas in the case of Pasquale Pettrezzi, 7, a minor, of Bristol, and his father, Armando, in the sum of $800 in a suit against Frank G. Wynn, of New Cumberland, Pa. The verdict taken by agreement of both sides, awarded $350 to the Harriman Hospital for services rendered Pasquale Pettrezzi during his stay in the hospital as a result of injuries; $150 to Dr. George T. Fox, for professional services; $200 for future care and nursing and $100 to the plaintiff for pain and suffering. Young Pettrezzi was struck by a truck driven by Wynn on January 14, this year, and has been in Harriman Hospital ever since.

Find Man's Body Floating In Delaware River

BURLINGTON, N. J., Apr. 20—The body of an unidentified man was found floating in the Delaware River off the Florence town wharf yesterday.

Captain Ellis Crammer, who discovered the body, pulled it ashore and notified police. Coroner George Whomley, of Burlington, took the remains to Shack's morgue here.

Whomley expressed the opinion that the man died from drowning. He said no marks of violence were found on the body, which had been in the water two weeks or more. The coroner said the man was undoubtedly a World War veteran, as a Veteran of Foreign Wars pin was found on his overcoat, and a picture of a war nurse was tat-toed on his left shoulder. An attempt will be made to take fingerprints, in order to check with the War Department records.

OLD SPANISH CUSTOM

Those who like to compare present and past military performances have been looking into Spain's siege and street fighting record. They have dug up several interesting facts. Two thousands years ago, when Hannibal took Saguntum, he had to spend eight months smashing four city walls. The Spanish defenders built new walls as the Carthaginian invaders broke the old ones down. And they did plenty of fighting between walls. It required real fighting men to hold up Hannibal for eight months. The gentleman from Carthage was a fast military worker.

The centuries rolled by, with the Spaniards getting plenty of practice from time to time in siege and street fighting. Finally, almost in our own times, the Napoleonic wars of a century and a half ago, 30,000 Frenchmen found taking Zaragoza a very tough job indeed. Those 30,000 Frenchmen were well-trained, seasoned fighters. They were led by a veritable posse of Napoleon's extremely able marshals. But they had to pound away for nine months before they got into the city of Zaragoza; and, after that, there were weeks of street fighting before the French finally won full control of the city.

History has been repeating itself in the present Spanish civil war. The Fascist insurgents proved themselves pretty good at holding out against siege in Toledo's Alcazar and at Oviedo. But the classic example of the present war seems to be the Spanish Loyalists' defense of Madrid. Months have passed since Franco's Fascists were supposed to be within a day or two of capture of Madrid.

Airplanes, heavy artillery, tanks, etc., are supposed to have revolutionized warfare. But, apparently, revolutionized warfare can't kill the old Spanish custom of fighting to the last barricade.

RUSSIA'S NEW PROBLEMS

Reports from Russia of late have indicated that all is not well with the Soviet's industrial program. The glowing accounts of tremendous progress in mechanization, the building of huge factories and outfitting of all the means of production have not been received for some time, but in their place are outbursts of complaint, criticism and condemnation attributed to those in authority.

The ugly word, sabotage, is harped on in most of these reports. There is great waste of material because products will not pass inspection. The latest worry of Russian officialdom is over the ambitious movie industry which was launched under direction of an expert from Hollywood. A mass meeting of cinema workers in Moscow charges that 50 per cent of all films have been spoiled.

The people of the United States hardly can be blamed for watching the Russian experiment and concluding that they will be justified in encouraging freedom of initiative in this country. Private enterprise, competitive effort, freedom of opportunity for genius and labor with a little interference from government as is consistent with fostering the general welfare, have worked pretty well in America.

We have only the French lady's word for the affaire d'amour with Il Duce. He never called her "the woman I love" over a round-the-world hook-up.

Weekly Letter to Home-Makers

A Letter Written by Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree to Home-Makers will appear in each Tuesday's issue of The Bristol Courier. Through this medium Mrs. Crabtree will give many helpful hints to home-makers.

Dear Friends:

Every woman secretly aspires to be The Perfect Hostess—(yes, and in capitals!).

Think over the friends you know who are charming, thoughtful hostesses, and see if you can guess their secret. Invariably you will recognize that much of their ability centers around the knack of remembering the special tastes and preferences of their guests.

To be sure, it is not always possible to ferret out those tastes in time to delight the guest on his first personal appearance in your home. Yet if the man happens to be a business friend, or a boyhood chum of your husband, a few discreet questions may turn the trick.

I happened to listen in on one domestic conversation, when a man was urging his wife to issue a dinner invitation to a business friend whose good-will he was seeking.

"I've never seen anyone get away with celery the way he does," he happened to say.

"Happen to know anything else he likes?" quizzed the clever wife.

After much meditation, the husband recollected that the visitor had an English background and that he was forever seeking a real steak and kidney pie—not the American version topped with puffy biscuits, but a real meat stew with onion, hard-boiled eggs, seasonings and much gravy, all fragrant beneath a regular pie-crust.

The wife balked to this so attentively that the dinner guest pronounced the meal the best he had eaten for years, all because there was an abundance of crisp celery hearts and a steak and kidney pie.

Cultivate this knack of observing whether your guest takes black coffee, whether he refuses coffee at night, in favor of tea; whether he declines rich pastries, craves hot biscuits, or balks at broccoli, or onions.

Quite by accident, I learned a sure way to record these tastes, more securely than in memory. Someone gave me a leather-bound guest book which occasionally boasted a rhyme or a kind sentence from a visiting friend.

One night we had for dessert, a really noble chocolate pie, swathed in meringue, which I had learned was the "secret passion" of the male dinner guest. Thoroughly impressed because his favorite dessert had been served, the guest wrote in the book, after his name: "Chocolate pie—yum!"

That gave me the idea of noting briefly in the back of the book the dates and menus for special guests, a plan which prevents duplication of menu—unless you find that the dish served is a particular favorite.

The habit really isn't as complicated as it sounds in fact, it scarcely takes two minutes to note after the Richardson dinner date: "Roast beef, scalloped onions, Brussels sprouts, steamed date pudding; no sugar in coffee for Mrs. R., black for Mr. R., no endive in salad. Mr. R. loves sprouts."

So, if you would systematize your hostess duties, keep a secret diary and see how your applause rating goes up!

Em. Riggs Crabtree

An Ounce of Care

Rubber panties are an expensive item on many a young mother's budget. Proper care will trim down that high cost of protection. One mother suggests that the panties be washed, dried and put in a box containing a small quantity of talcum powder or cornstarch. Only a few spoonfuls of either powder will do the trick. Shake the box vigorously.

Then shake off the surplus powder and the panties appear silky and as smooth as new. This treatment prevents tearing and prolongs life, as the rubber rots or adheres when left slightly damp.

Incidentally this is a good treatment in Summer for bathing caps. Since talcum powder is usually in every bathing bag, form the habit of shaking a bit inside your bathing cap after it is dried.

DELCO BOWLERS RUN WILD OVER BRISTOL

(By Louis Tomlinson)

Jim Murgie's Delco Alley five ran wild to easily upset Bristol in three games out at Ardmore Saturday night. The defeat continued the locals run of losses on visiting alleys where it seems that their luck gives out on them, due of course to lack of experience in bowling on certain alleys.

Two hundred scores were in vogue in the match with no less than ten being chalked up for the winners and five for the losers, or just half of all the individual scores. Unfortunately for the Reds, the Murgie boys picked this night to go on a rampage of strikes and spares, as four of their quintet hit for better than 600 for total score.

Bill Wright led the parade of strikes with a final score of 667, hitting for single totals of 218, 213, and 196 respectively. He was closely followed by Jim Bart, who rolled the pins over at the fast clip of 658, including three 200 games of 211, 244, 203. Fred Keels was next high scorer with scores of 216, 248 and 181 for a total of 645. The next man, Joe Dornheim, hit for 618, or eight pins higher than Bristol's high scorer, showing the type of bowling they rolled. Dornheim's scores were 226, 213 and 196. Finally, the lowest total score was rolled by Tom Shumer, who came through with a 203 total in the first game, and 179 and 181 in the last two matches for a grand total of 563. And that is how the Delco boys felt last Saturday night.

For Bristol, Encke was the leading maple smasher with a final tally of 610, including scores of 211, 209 and 190. Joe Amisson, with totals of 210, 179 and 190 was next for a combined score of 579. He was just a step ahead of Arthur Brooks, who had a final score of 570 due to his totals of 177, 214 and 179. Stewart's 202 in the second game gave him a final total of 534, while Bailey hit for 334 in two games, and Herb Yates hit 142 for a single game.

Bristol rolled up to par or better during the three games and really deserved a better break but were unfortunate to catch the Delco team on an "on" night, consequently they became their victims.

In the first game, with every man hitting for better than 200, the boys of Jim Murgie took the match in a romp, despite the fact that Bristol hit for a high total of 946. The Ardmore quint came out on top with a 168 pin advantage in this match, with Bill Wright the leader with a 258 score. Encke and Amisson led Bristol with respective scores of 211 and 210.

The Delco five eased up a little in the second tilt by only hitting for a 1097 total which was 17 pins lower than their previous game score. This time Fred Keels and Jim Bart led the parade with scores of 248 and 244. Tom Shumer was the only one who failed to hit better than 200 in this game for the winners. Wright and Dornheim both had scores of 213. For Bristol, Brooks' 214, Encke's 209, and Stewart's 22 were high strikers in this match.

The last match saw the maple topers from Philadelphia slow down to score a mere 940 with Jim Bart being the only 200 hitter of the game for either side. Encke and Amisson had scores of 190 for Bristol and Wright hit for 196 for the homesters.

Delco hit for a 3151 total while Bristol hit for 2769 final.

The scores were as follows:

Brooks 177 214 179—570 Stewart 180 202 152—534 trict Walther League, its topic was: "Hazy, Crazy, Lazy," taking as his text, Psalm 119, 59 and 60. Among other things he said: "There are many Christians who are very hazy about their Christian faith. Many there are who don't know what they believe and many others when asked whether or not they are Christians answer in a very hazy way, 'I hope I am, I try to be.' A Christian can and should be just as sure of his Christian faith, of his being a child of God, as he is of his own father and mother . . . We Christians, particularly we Lutherans of the Missouri Synod are called 'crazy' because we insist upon teaching and practicing the Bible, the whole Bible and nothing but the Bible. But we are not alone, if so be that we are mad. Jesus was called crazy too. St. Paul was called mad. Many other Biblical characters were considered out of their head for the very same reasons for which the world says to us: 'Don't be crazy' . . . If you consider yourself a Christian then you must also be up and doing in the Master's service. The Lord wants workers not shirkers in His vineyard. No one is to stand idle in the market-place. Don't be lazy! Every Christian is to find his place in his own congregation and do his part with all diligence."
